

TAX CHANGES ARE PROPOSED BY ROOSEVELT

SCHOOL BOARD TO LOSE $30,000 UNDER NEW LAW

Figures Discussed As Appropriation For Year
Is Approved

MEASURE SETS UP
TOTAL OF $280,952

Board Accepts New Rate
Fixed by Budget Commission

With revenue previously received curtailed to some extent by the new state school foundation law
which went into effect the first of the year, the board of education
at its regular meeting Monday night in the High school approved
the annual appropriation resolution to provide for current expenses and other expenditures for the fiscal year.

Before passing the resolution,
board members accepted, by another resolution, the rates fixed by the Columbiana county budget commission for the Salem public school district, which totals 9.30
mills.

Loss of $30,000

The tax rate for the board is higher than that of last year when the levy was 7.80 mills. The funds
the schools lose through operation of the foundation law include those from direct distribution of sales tax revenue, liquid fuel taxes and miscellaneous. Supt. Kerr explained the loss will represent approximately $30,000 for the year, he said.
Payment of current bills leaves $14,802.90 on hand today with the estimated expenses for the ensuing month listed at $14,817, records
show.

The approved appropriation resolution carries a total figure of $280,952. The appropriation from the sinking fund includes on bonds maturing, $20,300, and interest on bonds of $9,725.65 making
total of $30,025.65.

Countess Barbara Passes Crisis

Recent photo

Lord Horder

Although reported definitely removed from the danger list, Countess Barbara Hutton von Haugwitz-Reventlow faces a long and difficult struggle back to health after the major operation performed following the birth of her "$40,000,000 son" in London. Rigorous dieting was believed to have induced a state of anemia responsible for her breakdown. Before her dieting, the heiress to the Woolworth millions weighed between 140 and 145 pounds, bordering on plumpness, as the 1929 photo, lower left, illustrates, but fasting brought her weight down to 100 pounds in the past year, a contrast apparent by comparing the recent photo at the top. Lord Horder, lower right, personal physician to King Edward VIII, is now in attendance on the countess.

SAFE CRACKED AT FEED STORE

Burglars Break Into Mof-Store; Get $6.05 For Their Efforts

Burglars who broke into the Walter Mof feed store at 782
South Broadway Monday night obtained only $6.05 as their reward
after hammering the combination
from a safe in the store.

The safe-crackers gained entrance to the store shortly after Patrolman George Reash had made his round, police reported.
They pried open the front door of the store to enter the building.
The door was found open at 11:45
p. m. by a young man who passed by on his way home. He notified police.

Patrolmen Reash and James Hassey found that the burglars had used a sack to cover the safe lock
as they hammered away, thereby making as little noise as possible.
The officers looked for fingerprints
today.

MAPLE HEIGHTS MAN KILLED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

I. R. Lamport, 58, Enroute To Salem, Dies Near Edinburg

HIS AUTO SKIDS,
STRUCK BY TRUCK

New Castle Man, Driver
of Truck, Exonerated
By Authorities

I. R. Lamport, 58, of 83 Ernis st., Maple Heights, Cleveland, was killed instantly Monday afternoon
when he apparently lost control of his automobile and it skidded and overturned directly in the path of an approaching steel truck on Route 14 at Edinburg.

State Highway Patrolman, Carrol
Ruben of Salem, who investigated
the accident, said the driver of the truck, Frank Hamilton of 1104 West Cherry st., New Castle, was exonerated by the coroner of Portage county.

Witnesses said Lamport was driving toward Salem when the mishap occurred. The door of his car flew open as it hit the front of the truck, throwing him between the vehicles.

The truck, loaded with several tons of steel, was unable to pull away from the wreckage due to slippery road conditions. When a tow car arrived Lamport's body
was removed to Sloan's funeral home at Ravenna.

Fairbanks' Marriage Rumors Afloat Again

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 3.—
Rumors of an impending marriage
for Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Sylvia Ashley revived in Hollywood
today, but Mrs. Robert Fairbanks, his sister-in-law, said neither she nor her husband had been informed of such a plan.

Robert Fairbanks has managed
the screen star's business affairs
for years.

Fairbanks left suddenly for England last week.

FOUR TICKETS FOR GRADUATES

Commencement Plans Are Discussed at School
Board Meeting

The board of education at its meeting Monday night in the High school approved a continuance of the plan of granting 10 invitations and four admittance tickets to each member of the High school graduating class this year. Graduation exercises will be held June 4.
Supt. E. S. Kerr at the meeting outlined highlights of the St. Louis convention of the department of superintendence which he attended last week. Theme of the convention, Supt. Kerr said, was "The Function of the Schools in the Democracy."

Several local churches, including the Christian, Methodist and Presbyterian, were granted the use of the High school auditorium for the annual Easter pageant April 8 and 9.

Spring vacation week in the public schools will begin April 4.
Board members discussed briefly
a program for a class for crippled
children in Salem, but took no
definite action.

The report of Miss Elizabeth Steer, school nurse, showed 233
children examined for tuberculosis
within recent weeks. During February 53 school visits were made, 124 routine inspections held, first aid administered to 73, a total of 105 home visits made, 73 consultations with teachers held and 13
visits to physicians ordered.

Salem Schools Bring Art Exhibition Here

An exhibit of North American children's painting sponsored by the Salem schools is being held in the recreational hall, second floor of the Ohio Edison building.

The primary object in bringing the exhibit to Salem is to enable Salem children to see what other children are doing, Supt. E. S. Kerr said today.

Mrs. Ethel Headrick, art supervisor of the public schools, has charge of the exhibit which will be open to the public 8:45 a. m.
to 11:45 a. m. and from 1:15 p. m.
to 4 p. m. daily through Thursday
of this week.

Fined At Alliance

ALLIANCE, March 3.—Forrest B.
Parsons, 55, of East Liverpool pleaded guilty to two liquor charges
when arraigned in municipal court
this morning following his arrest
late Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Walter McDonald. He was fined $50 and costs for illegal possession and $10 and costs for intoxication.

Hotel Blaze Causes Death of Three, Injuring Ten

Flames of an unknown origin which converted the top floor of a 40-year-old Warren, O., hotel claimed the lives of four persons, three men and a woman. Ten other residents of the hotel were injured or overcome by smoke before they were rescued by firemen. Two of the victims, the woman and one of the men, plunged to their deaths from their top floor quarters. This photo shows firemen playing streams of water on the burning building. Four other persons were feared missing in the fire.

LAUNCH PROBE IN HOTEL FIRE

Officials Seek Cause of Warren Blaze, Fatal to Three Persons

(By Associated Press)

WARREN, March 3.—Fire officials sought today the cause of a $150,000 blaze which brought death to three persons at the 40-
year-old Warren hotel yesterday.
Five persons were rescued by firemen and taken to hospitals.

A search of the ruins under flood lights last night failed to disclose any further victims, firemen said.

Owen Canole of Akron and a woman whom hotel officials said
was registered as his wife, were killed after leaping from a third-floor room. John McBan, a Republic Steel Corp. superintendent, was found burned to death in his room.

Fire Chief E. H. Oldacres said
the cause was still undetermined,
although the blaze might have originated in a linen closet, Niles and Youngstown fire departments
assisted Warren firemen.

Among the injured were: Mrs.
Phoebe Smith, 39, wife of M. T.
Smith, hotel manager, burns on body, head and arms; Emil Wehnes, 65, hotel night clerk, overcome by smoke; James R. O'Day, 30, burns on arms, back and legs; Mrs. Hazel Lauer, 46, burned about the head;
Philip Beaudry, 43, face and arm
burns; Blaine W. Folsom, 48, overcome by smoke.

STUDENTS VIEW DISPLAY OF ART

Children's Paintings May Be Seen
Wednesday Night, also
From 7:30 Until 10

The exhibition of North American children's paintings which is being so highly acclaimed by the school children of Salem, will be open to the public from 7:30 to 10 p. m. Wednesday in the auditorium on the second floor of the Ohio
Edison building.

For the first time on a national scale, from Connecticut to California, has been collected a new sort of Americana—the untutored, unrevised attempts of American children to interpret their world with brush and crayon. Beside them by way of accent, are hung drawings
by their contemporaries in Mexico, Canada, Hawaii and the Indian reservations.

All the United States drawings
share a lively sense of motion,
color and design. An emphatic joy permeates them, with few either of the introspective or the wistful reservations one sometimes feels in the work of foreign children. Their feelings, like their subjects, are in a limited range. Emotionally this year's American show somehow bears much the same relation to last year's international one as does light opera to grand opera.

The chief fact that overwhelms
the observer, however, is that we have young artists of such virtuosity
apparently everywhere in our midst. One comes out of the show with a new deference for the child-in-the-street, who sees life so much more sharply and rhythmically
than does the custom-bound adult.
The exhibition will be open all day Wednesday and all day Thursday until 4 p. m.

Alliance Prisoner Takes Clothes To Trial, Then Jail

ALLIANCE, March 3.—Knowing Judge Harry Moreland's regulation
penalty for driving while intoxicated, Harry Pierson of 1431 Jersey
st., brought extra clothing with him
when he appeared in court this morning. And Pierson's foresight wasn't wasted.

Arrested Feb. 22, Pierson denied the drunken driving charge when arraigned Feb. 24. He pleaded guilty this morning at his hearing. He was fined Judge Moreland's usual $150 and costs, surrendered his driving rights for six months and took his clothing to county jail to start a 30-day sentence.

DUCE ABOLISHES PRIVATE BANKS

Italian Financial Institutions Made Public In Sweeping Reform

BY CHARLES H. GUPTILL.
Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press

ROME, March 3.—Private banking in Italy was abolished today
by a sweeping banking reform,
passed by the council of ministers
in a session at which Premier Mussolini declared anew Fascist's
defiance of League of Nations
sanctions.

The cabinet ordered the four biggest banks in Italy—the Bank of Italy, the Banca Commerciale Italiana, the Credito Italiano, and the Banca Di Roma—declared public
banks.

The ministers also confirmed a public bank status for a number of other important banks, including the Banco De Napoli, Banco
De Sicilia and Banca Nazionale
Del Lavoro.

The strength of the Bank of Italy was reduced to a capitalization of 300,000,000 lire (about $24-000,000), to be subscribed to by the public banks.

A prominent banker explained
that the provisions envisaged absolute state control of banking operations.

The banking reform accompanied the declaration by Duce that the United States extension of its neutrality policy—without resort to embargoes on oil and other raw materials—was an important contribution to world peace.

Makes Bow to Business World Here As First Licensed Woman Realtor

Mrs. Frank Brian To Establish Real Estate Business

Mrs. Frank Brian of North Union
ave., today entered business circles
here as Salem's first licensed woman real estate broker.

Announcing her plans for the immediate future, Mrs. Brian said she does not expect to establish an office in the business district for some time, at least. Instead, she will conduct her business from her home under the name of Mary S.
Brian and will respond to calls or communications from her clients.

Mrs. Brian enters the real estate
field with the approval of the Ohio real estate board. This entails a particular study of the particular field in which the operator expects to work, character, reputation and a thorough knowledge of real estate operations.

It also demands an examination
by the Ohio board which Mrs.
Brian passed recently when the board held a session in Akron.

SURPLUS FUNDS GO TO SCHOOLS

State Auditor Makes Surprise Distribution from Old Accruals

COLUMBUS, March 3.—State
Auditor Joseph T. Tracy announced today that he is making a "surprise" distribution of $2,233,780 for schools in addition to regular distributions under the foundation
school program.

The funds to be distributed this week represent accruals from last year under the liquid fuel tax of $1,451,067.16 and $782,113.46 under the sales tax.

The state auditor also announced
a distribution today of $525,365.48
to counties for poor relief, representing February accruals of selective sales taxes. The money will be used to pay original poor relief bonds in counties where such were issued. If no bonds are outstanding,
then the county may use the money for any poor relief purposes.
Included in the distribution of poor relief funds were these counties:

Allen $3,761; Athens $2,978;
Butler $7,950; Clark $6,149; Clinton
$1,008; Columbiana $6,130; Cuyahoga $123,828; Erie $3,128; Fairfield $1,944; Fayette $1,256; Fair-

Progress Reported On Water Line Job

Progress is being made in the construction of new water mains in the Hillsdale area, it was reported today by City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff who said that pipe has been laid for a distance of two blocks.
The project was started just before cold weather set in, which hampered construction work.

The work is being done as a WPA
job. Other workers also are employed on the WPA sanitary sewer job in the section covering Franklin, Bank and Lundy avenues.

UNDISTRIBUTED PROFITS LEVY IS SUGGESTED

Asks Repeal of Graduated
Corporation Income
Charges

DEMANDS BROADER PROCESSING TAX

Thorough Revision of National System Is Advocated

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—
Sweeping tax law changes, including imposition of a tax on undistributed corporation profits and repeal of the present graduated corporation income tax were recommended to congress today by President Roosevelt.

Files Estimate
He estimated the tax on undistributed corporation profits would yield $1,614,000,000 annually.

In a momentous message recommending a thorough revision of the national tax system, the president also proposed:
Processing taxes spread broader and thinner than the old levies obliterated by the supreme court.

A "windfall" tax to recover a considerable part of the old processing taxes which were returned to the tax payers or on which they refused payment.

Repeal of the existing capital stock tax which was estimated to yield $163,000,000 in the fiscal year 1937.

Repeal of the corporation excess profits tax which was estimated to yield $5,000,000 in 1937. Repeal of the exemption of dividends from the normal tax of individual incomes.

The graduated corporation income tax which the president proposed to repeal was estimated to
yield $826,000,000 in the fiscal year 1937.

Treasury experts were understood to estimate that the proposed new levy on undistributed corporation profits would not only replace the $904,000,000 taxes which would be repealed but would provide an additional revenue of $20,000,000 on 1936 corporation incomes.

The president told congress in-validation of the processing taxes
left a deficit in the budget of $1-017,000,000 and that the cash bonus
bill would add an annual charge of $120,000,000 a year.

"We are called upon, therefore,"
he said, "to raise by some form of permanent taxation an annual amount of $620,000,000. It may be said truthfully and correctly that $500,000,000 of this amount represents substitute taxes in place of the old processing taxes, and that only $120,000,000 represents new taxes not hitherto levied."

Up To Congress
The chief executive said he was leaving "to the discretion of congress" the formulation of appropriate taxes. But he invited the attention of congress to "a form of tax which would accomplish
an important tax reform, remove
two major inequalities in our tax system, and stop 'leaks' in present
surpluses."

Mr. Roosevelt then proposed the tax on undistributed corporate income "graduated and so fixed as to yield approximately the same revenue as would be yielded if corporate profits were distributed and taxed in the hands of the stock holders."

The president did not mention a specific rate but said the treasury would submit estimates by which the desired yield could be realized.
It was understood the treasury's
proposal was for a graduated tax averaging about 33 1/3 per cent.

The president made it plain that he expected the new corporation
tax not only to cover the repealed
taxes but to raise the $620,000,000
which he characterized as permanent levies.

Attendance Gains At Band Rehearsal

Another increase in attendance
was recorded when 35 members turned out for the rehearsal of the Quaker City band Monday night in the band rooms in the Gurney block on South Broadway.

The rehearsal was under the joint direction of Alex Lazarus and William Rankin.

A meeting of the American Federation of Musicians local No. 222,
was held following the rehearsal.
Samuel Kraus is president of the union. Rollin Finley presided over a business meeting of the band.

DISTINCTION

In a formal sense, Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, son of the late President William Howard Taft, is Ohio's "favorite son" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. It is only in a formal sense, however, that Mr. Taft can be designated as a "favorite son."

He does not possess any important following in the state. There has been no political boom in his favor. Consideration of him is not justified by the possibility of nomination in the national convention. Actually, Mr. Taft is not a "favorite son" candidate.

He is, rather, a "stalking horse" candidate. His delegates, every Republican knows, will be available for another candidate when a coup is to be engineered in the convention. There is a distinction between "favorite son" and "stalking horse" which political organizations cannot be expected to stress, but which nevertheless is definite.

Ohio law requires candidates for delegates to a national convention to declare their first and second choice for the presidential nomination. Candidates may not make such declarations without the consent of the persons they choose to represent.

Thus, when all the prominent Republican presidential possibilities, except Sen. Borah, withheld consent for the use of their names, that left Sen. Borah as the only formal candidate. The state publican organization, desiring to offset the Borah campaign for delegates, had no choice but to offer delegates not committed to any actual candidate. Since there was no real "favorite son," Mr. Taft and Charles H. Frederickson of Coshocton were appointed to act as "stalking horses." Naturally, the two gentlemen are under no illusions about the political role they are playing.

THE STRONGEST WORD

Politicians incline instinctively toward the strongest word to describe the faults of the opposition and the mildest word to tell of their own shortcomings. It is probable that "terrorism" is on the strong side as it is being used currently by the opposition to describe the Roosevelt administration's natural desire to protect itself from damaging critics. This is, after all, a campaign year.

Nevertheless, a strong word frequently does what a mild word isn't supposed to do. It draws a crowd. President Roosevelt and his subordinates have emphasized their determination to keep relief out of partisan politics. They have an opportunity to prove they meant what they said. It is criticism of relief money which seems to have drawn their fire. The new deal has an opportunity to show it would not take advantage deliberately of the vast appropriations it has been empowered to distribute.

Members of the Roosevelt administration have known from the beginning that the opposition would take every advantage possible of mismanagement and corruption in relief expenditures. Whatever the two-party political system may not do, it has a tendency to keep the majority party on the defensive. If there have been grave defections and if further defections are planned, they will be brought to light. If the record contains nothing embarrassing, the opposition will be unable to make itself embarrassing by insisting on the right to examine it.

BETTER ACQUAINTED

One effect of Japan's revolt of last week is an increased occidental interest in the domestic politics of the orient's most powerful government. Despite Japan's prominent role as empire builder, it still is a comparative stranger to the western world.

It seems probable, furthermore, that such glimpses of Japanese politics as were afforded by last week's revolt have a tendency to increase sympathetic understanding of Japan's problems. Many Americans are aware, possibly for the first time, of some of the deep currents which have carried Japan to its present position in Asia.

Difficulty is experienced, to be sure, in humanizing the political figures of Japan. Yet, the amazing story of Premier Keisuke Okada's escape from assassination and the sacrifice which his brother in law, Col. Matsuo, made to save the premier brings them into a closer focus. There are many things which defy understanding, but the will to understand them has been strengthened by their complexity.

It has been said that Americans suffer from an unvaried diet of European political information which dulls their interest in a more healthful fare of news selected from a wider range. It seems probable that the condition, if it really exists, may be changed by keen interest in the truly fascinating story of modern Japan.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, March 3—Irving Berlin, attaining fresh triumphs with his tunes for the talkies, continues shy of the current celebrities. In almost any public gathering, he has a way of making himself so inconspicuous he is often not seen at all.

He is one of the few first nighters who arrives on time and does not flit around showily between acts. In a close-up he is soft-spoken, an excellent listener and has a good word for everybody, especially contemporaries in composing. And he's been loyal to friends of other days.

Physically frail, he is a careful eater, moderate cigarette smoker and rarely indulges more than a single cocktail on festive occasions. One of his eccentricities on an evening out is to motor to a Broadway barber shop solely to have his hair brushed.

His marriage to the beautiful and socially prominent Ellen Mackay, despite the head wagers, proved a union of unusual devotion. He is reputed to have written a lyrical sentimentality for her eyes alone every week since they were married. Just leaves it around.

An all-time record aggregation of autograph collectors clotted a few weeks ago at the premiere of the Chaplin picture on Broadway. Scores of them took places hours before the hand-picked crowd began to arrive. For a time they stood dumbly, like cattle in running water, while the current of celebrities swept from limousines and taxis. All seemed too awed to make usual requests because of the surfeit of ermine, mink and monacles. Then one broke the police cordon and the stampede was on, giving Broadway one of the most disgusting spectacles of "celebrity consciousness" it has ever seen.

The monacle increase this winter is one of the most pronounced dandyisms since Lucius Beebe barged down from Boston. Heretofore New York has gazed only at such occasional monoclists as Jules Bache, Ahmed Abdullah, De Seguroia, Tommy Millard and George Arliss. But a crop of English actors augmented by noblemen parked here because of cheaper living has given the town a glassy gloss. A half-dozen monacles may be counted along the avenue in a short saunter. And several opticians have window cards: "Monocle Adjustments."

The monacle, to my notion, has no equal in promoting elegance. Nothing so simple and inexpensive has the trick of creating an aura of culture, blood and top drawer what-ho. I used to carry one on trips to Europe not so much for the show although I had my moments, but as a sort of barrier breaker. Such as this: I tried on two occasions for a ringside table at a haughty London night club. Each time no dice. A week later I dusted off the monacle clapped it to my eye, and although the place was jammed was piloted proto smack down among the swells. Erskine Gwynne tipped me off to that one.

Beatrice Kaufman, wife of the playwright, George S. Kaufman, and who has contributed a play and many magazine articles herself, stepped right out front in her new role of fiction chief with the sophisticated Harper's Bazaar, edited by Carmel Snow. What a name for a Colony dessert! Mrs. Kaufman has several surprises for the takeoff and her wide acquaintance with the Dorothy Parker, Noel Coward types of literati presages a lot of contacts editors dream about but seldom realize. For no known reason the most reluctant and scantiest outputs of writing come from those who bear the brand of sophistication. They toss much of it off gratis at cocktail parties.

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, March 4

Basing the judgment on the lunar transits, this may be a day of doubt, adversity and disruptive influences. It will be difficult to manage affairs with profit and satisfaction unless all the reserve forces of sagacity, acumen and strategy be called upon. Employment offers problems; finances are in jeopardy, and sudden visitations of an entirely unforeseen nature are to be wisely manipulated. Change seems imminent, but be alert to fraud and trickery.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare themselves for a year in which all their wisdom, sagacity and good judgment may be called for to manage difficult situations. These affect employment and finances, and involve suddenly-presented problems, with wise decisions as to change and strange contacts. Be cautious in all.

A child born on this day may be difficult to understand and direct unless taken into careful control in infancy. It may be retiring, secretive and aloof. Notable nativity: Stuart Robson, actor.

"Yeh? Are You Sure, Pal"

After lumping his daughter's perambulator down 20 flights of his Park avenue apartment so that the young lady might have her airing despite the strike of 10,000 New York building service employees, a swarthy curly-haired fellow started to operate the elevator for the return trip. He was hailed by a striker who threatened to sock him if he moved the elevator. "Yeh? Are you sure, pal?" was the retort. And the striker, apparently wasn't sure because Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion, proceeded to operate the elevator.

Pellagra

PELLAGRA is an annoying disorder of the skin. Its prevention and cure are accomplished through the combined efforts of the medical, public health, educational and various social and economic agencies. Indeed, this ailment presents an economic as well as a medical problem.

Until recently little was known about the actual cause of pellagra. It is now established to be a vitamin - deficiency disease. It results from a diet deficient in vitamin G.

The disease is most prevalent in some of the southern states. Faulty dietary habits are responsible for it. The United States public health service workers found that persons living exclusively on a diet of corn meal, white wheat flour, white rice, dried beans, white meat, salt pork, sorghum or cane molasses are in danger of having pellagra. These foods do not contain enough of the dietary elements essential to the prevention of the disease.

public health service, we know a lot about the disease. It has been found that the pellagra-preventing factor is found in lean meat, eggs, milk, wheat germ, tomatoes and in a number of vegetables and fruits. It is contained in a pure culture of yeast. This was successfully used as an emergency measure after the Mississippi flood in 1927.

But do not be misled by the belief that yeast is a complete cure for pellagra. It only serves as a temporary relief measure. The disease can only be controlled completely by an adequate and varied diet.

The victim of pellagra has a reddish discoloration of the skin. As a rule the face, neck and hands are involved. Within a short time the skin peels and sheds in large quantities.

In addition to the skin irritation, the patient complains of digestive disturbances, nervousness and weakness. In advanced cases there may be marked melancholia, hallucinations, stupor and convulsions.

It is important to remember that a good many disorders can be prevented by attention to the diet. When fresh fruits and foods are not available, canned products may be safely substituted. For example, canned spinach, turnips and string beans contain adequate amounts of vitamin G and serve to help in the prevention of pellagra.

Answers to Health Queries
Miss E. M. Q.—What would cause red blotches on the face? They seem to burn and will often appear without any provocation. I do run a temperature at times out do not cough nor am I tired. I cannot afford an examination at this time.

A.—It is important that you have an examination. Your doctor will then advise you accordingly. It is not natural to run a temperature unless there is no underlying cause or disturbance.

SCIENTIFIC REPORT
FAVORS BRAN

Relieves Common Constipation Safely

Read this statement, taken from an article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, pages 133-134, Nov., 1932:

"The inclusion in the diet of a small portion of bran . . . would seem a very practical way of getting fiber which is not likely to be disintegrated. This bran has the additional advantage of furnishing a considerable amount of vitamin B and of readily available iron."

Exhaustive tests, over a period of five years, have proved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to be a safe, effective way to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" or fiber in meals. It is accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods for this purpose.

You will enjoy this pleasant way to prevent the dangers of constipation. You can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Or cook into delicious breads and muffins.

Usually two tablespoons a piece daily are enough to protect your family from common constipation. How much better than taking pills or drugs!

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

INVESTMENTS

The increase in price from fifty to ninety cents on the dollar does not tell the whole story of the profits of the man who bought Home Savings pass books three years ago. During the entire three years The Home Savings has paid dividends at the rate of three per cent per annum, and these dividends were computed on the face value — not on the market value — of the account. Three per cent on a hundred dollars is equivalent to six per cent on fifty dollars. It follows that a fifty-dollar investment in a savings pass book three years ago has earned more than thirty per cent per year for the past three years.

CHAPTER XXX

They don't know that I can describe very well," the hotel clerk was asked as he turned to her. She was in her middle twenties. I should say she was short and slim. Her hair was somewhat reddish, I think, and she wore a small black hat and a black fur coat. This description might have fit Connie. Miss Sass stated that she had seen her wear such a hat and coat when going to San Francisco. People don't pay much on this side of the bay, but it is sure comfortable on the ferry or even in the I've begged Mother for a fur often enough, heaven knows. Connie (as it later turned out, without a doubt) must have been St. Joseph on the seven o'clock train, and returned, disappointed and discouraged, on the nine-fifteen from the city.

The clerk was next asked if he had ever seen this woman before. He said no. Asked when Mr. Lloyd had said his mail, he said the next Thursday.

Did Mr. Lloyd stay here that night? No, he did not.

Did he go to his apartment? No. He read his mail and left immediately.

This turned attention back to the house. He had been in San Francisco on October 20th after all, even though he had said he was out of the city when first questioned. If he was not staying at his own apartment, where had he been?

It was the next day before further information could be gleaned. This I was getting pretty excited over things again. My disappointment with the case and my weariness with all the details had passed. Mr. Allen had told his story. Now looked as if the Inspector were right. The end ought to be in sight most any day now. Things were happening fast with Mrs. Carson's talking without her law- with Melvin's breaking down; with Bruce's actions coming to light in spite of his silence; with still held in jail, being worn by almost daily questioning; with Mr. Perkins' nerves crashing under the strain; and Allen's feeling the pressure. I expected to see the "squeezed too much" of the truth to burst out.

Mother and I were talking about while we got dinner Tuesday night. Dad had phoned that he was taking Bruce home with him. It was the last time he was allowed to do so. I put on my pale blue dress that was two years old. Much as was much concession as I made to the occasion. I had not realized until then just how indifferent I had become to Bruce. "Have you seen Inspector Brown lately?" Mother asked. "Not since Saturday."

"Whom do you think he would be for the murder?"

"Don't know; he doesn't say. I think we might have Saturday, but we were interrupted. I have felt the time, though, that he suspected Bruce more than anyone else."

"That nice young man! I can't believe it. All the time that he is sitting at my table tonight, I shall be wondering if I am feeding a murderer!"

We both shuddered. That was a lot for Mother to say. A bang on the front porch told us the evening car had arrived. I went out to greet it, and there on the front page was a story that was just too relevant to our conversation.

The police had checked all the cars in San Francisco, and they had that on October 20th, Bruce had a blonde woman, presumably Connie Carter, had been registered as Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd!

Bruce was taking no chances with Bruce. This time he was caught to dinner by three detectives who took up positions outside the house. He was beginning to show signs of strain, to develop some "nerves". This and the detectives and our own mental reservations about him, such as even Mother had expressed, did not make us a very jolly crowd. The dinner was not exactly a social success.

Conversation finally became impossible. The dessert, which was a well apple pie (the kind that only mothers make), was eaten in absolute silence. After coffee during which Dad brought up one or two subjects that died early deaths, we went into the living room. Allen had not come to dinner. The dislike of Bruce amounting to a mania. But he had read the paper in the front room and left it lying there, front page headlines uppermost. I think he did it purposely.

Bruce picked it up, read the whole article with the most taken-back expression ("undisguised dismay" is the proper term, I believe). He sat down abruptly, so suddenly that I gasped for fear he would miss the chair. He read the article again, having forgotten all about us. Mother and I exchanged glances as we settled ourselves comfortably, and Dad raised an eyebrow. We waited several minutes.

At last Bruce looked up. "You've all read this!"

We nodded.

"Since you've found out that much, it is time to talk, Mr. Martin. I think I would like to tell you the story first; you have all been so kind to me, and you ought to have known the truth long ago."

He paused for a few moments. If he was acting, he did it superbly. He seemed completely subdued, completely honest.

"I told you that I had friends at Carmel. After I had begun to wonder if Connie and I had not made a big mistake in planning marriage, I went down to visit them for a weekend. I thought it would be a quiet place to think it over."

"You have wondered why I ran away, why I returned, why I refused to talk. You have no doubt suspected that Bernice Carter had something to do with the reason for all these things. You were quite right. I was trying to keep her out of it, to keep her untouched by all this unpleasantness, this notoriety. After I succeeded in getting her on the boat for Honolulu, it has not mattered so much. She is out of it at least; if she cannot escape publicity she can escape the actual situation."

This concern for Bernice, this fierce protectiveness, may have been quite touching to some people. Mother thought it "so sweet". As for me, I thought of Connie, just as lovely, just as sheltered, just as precious. No one had protected her from misery and an ugly death, from scandal and disgrace even as she lay in her grave. I thought it was too bad Bruce could not have employed some of his marvelous chivalry where she was concerned.

He was going on with the story. "Now that the papers are linking her with me have discovered who she is, and are implying worse things than could be true of her, I might better tell who she really is and what connection she has with me."

"You see at Carmel that weekend I met Bernice. I was staying with these friends at their log house in the hills. They had told me that they had another guest, a girl from Baltimore who was doing a little painting. She had studied in the East and abroad, had not done much with what talent she had, was a dilettante even as I was."

His face glowed as he spoke of her, oh so proudly. His voice was so soft and tender at the thought of her. Gee, I wish Dicky would get that way about me sometime!

"Our meeting was so typical of the way everything between us should be, natural, inevitable, entirely right. I knew from the first moment that nothing could ever be allowed to stand between us. I was sitting before the open fire the first night I was there waiting for dinner."

"We were never introduced; it was one of those things that just happen. Bernice came down the stairs and I stood up. She was wearing some soft, clingy thing in an old blue. It trailed on the floor and caressed her throat. Above it, her hair was a golden glow, her eyes so deep, and oh so sweet! As she smiled, it was for me alone, and it went straight into my heart to stay."

He had forgotten about us completely, lost in utter rapture as he thought of this woman. There was ## Little Barbara Has "Jam-Boree".

These candid camera shots, taken by Samuel Schulman, New York photographer for International News Photos, record a miniature but colorful drama without words. It all started when 9-month-old Barbara May Schulman found a plate of jam in front of her without her mother in sight. Lacking a spoon, she dug in, but with somewhat disastrous results since her efforts ended in disaster when the bowl slipped into her lap.

a pause and Dad asked quietly, "I take it you were sure your engagement to Miss Sinclair was a decided mistake?"

Bruce continued to talk in a soft, spellbound voice, answering, "Neither Connie nor anyone else mattered after that."

We believed him. The trouble was that probably the police and everyone else would, too—would believe him so thoroughly that they would be sure he had murdered Connie to be rid of her.

The rest of his story as it came out later certainly pointed that way. That night he was intent on making us see the beauty and the glory of this Bernice he loved so well.

She was no doubt lovely, a "Burne-Jones painting come to life," he said. He repeated that phrase once in a reporter's hearing and it tagged itself onto Bernice all through the events that followed. The photographs that were published backed up what he had to say. She was exquisite. Beside her, what ordinary girl could possibly have a chance? She was not very popular with any of us, Helen or Patsy or me. As Patsy said, she had "glamour plus."

Then you decided to break your engagement to Miss Sinclair? You wanted to marry this girl?

"I asked her to marry me that night. She refused, which was quite right. I had lost my head completely."

"But she eventually accepted your—er—attentions?"

"Accepted my attentions! More than that, Mr. Martin. She is my wife!"

WOULD PAY FOR POLITICAL JOB

Kansan Thinks Public Office Holders Should Pay To Serve

LAWRENCE, Kan., March 3 — William B. Felts, 70, pensioned Spanish-American War Veteran, believes that all aspirants to public office should be willing to pay to serve.

And he backs his belief with a promise to pay $250,000 to serve as representative from the 2d Kansas district. U. S. Guyer, Republican, Kansas City, Kan., now represents the district.

Felts recently sent his declaration as an independent candidate with the $250,000 check to Frank J. Ryan, secretary of state. Ryan returned the declaration with the statement that an independent cannot run unless he presents a petition from the voters of his district. Felts replied he could get the petition and has set about doing it.

Publishes Own Poetry

Felts writes and publishes his own poetry although he has made no money from such ventures. His most prolific piece is entitled, "Gettysburg Monumentum". It is 356 pages long.

The money to back up his belief that office holders should pay to serve was provided by his brother, Col. James G. Felts, wealthy auctioneer of Winona, KaKn.

"If office holders in key positions were made to pay for the honor," Felts said, "this country would get a better class of public servant. Instead, our general run consists of persons who cannot earn their own living."

Attacks Relief Setup

Felts said he will campaign on a platform of relief and pensions. "Every person entitled to relief and pensions should have them," he said, "but the manner in which they are being administered and handed out is ruining the very basis of our American foundation. If relief is to be administered it should never be done in the manner of arbitrarily handing out money. Food, fuel and clothing should be the answer. A coddled child grows to be a spoiled child. A coddled nation will be worse."

Felts said he expects to wage a vigorous campaign and believes his action will be the forerunner of a new era in politics.

STANDARDIZED UNIFORMITY

The simple mechanical details of cigarette manufacture are of surprising importance. Upon them depend the physical properties of the cigarette, such as weight, size, firmness, moisture-holding properties, uniformity of fill—uniformity of product—all of which have a far-reaching effect on the character of its combustion and the constituents of its smoke.

In the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes all of these properties have been standardized with care for the perfection of A LIGHT SMOKE.

LUCKIES ARE LESS ACID!

Recent chemical tests show* that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

Present Day Dramatic Art Is Discussed By Book Club

Book club members enjoyed a program on present day dramatic art at their meeting Monday afternoon in the assembly room of the public library. The names of outstanding actors or actresses were given in response to roll call.

Mrs. G. D. Keister had a paper on "The Repertory Theater", explaining what a true repertory theater is, its origin and its future, and its effect on the future dramatic art of the country.

Mrs. Keister said that repertory is the natural form of theater and was first found in our country in the operas which were given many times. In repertory, concluded Mrs. Keister, lies the future of the American theater.

Discusses Little Theater

Mrs. T. Vaughn Yates discussed "The Little Theater Movement", explaining that the movement is made up of three elements, the experimental spirit, non-commercialism, and close connection between players and audience. The movement began in 1887 when a group of artists, writers, and amateur dramatists became dissatisfied with the stereotyped form of plays and formed a group to give plays in a small theater where they could try out their new stage methods, new ways of directing and interpreting and new stage settings.

"If It Be Reason," a new play which deals with the subject of peace, was interestingly reviewed by Mrs. L. W. Matthews. The story deals with a President of the United States who, after his predecessor had put this country on the brink of a war with Japan, pleads for peace, even going to Japan to ask for it, while impeachment proceedings are being brought at home against him.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeanette Young Norton

Apples are in now, so the wise housewife will avail herself of the splendid variety now in the market and prepare some tasty apple dishes.

We'll lead off the apple procession with an apple macaroni pudding that is a delight. Sift quarter cup flour, measure, sift again with one-half teaspoon baking powder and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Beat one egg lightly, add one-half cup sugar and beat well. Add one tablespoon melted butter, mix; add flour. Peel, core and quarter four medium-sized Baldwin apples. Place in deep, well-greased baking dish. Cover with one-quarter cup sugar and dot with three tablespoons butter. Pour batter over apples and dot with spoon of butter. Bake in hot oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until apples are tender. This serves six to eight.

Apple Surprise

Now for apple surprise, which calls for two cups thick, unsweetened apple sauce (McIntosh apples make a grand "pink" sauce). Mix apple sauce and one glass tart jelly thoroughly, and spread in the bottom of a large, shallow, well-greased baking dish. Beat three egg yolks until light and lemon colored; add three tablespoons sugar and continue beating until sugar is well blended, two to three minutes. Add one-half cup blanched almonds, chopped, also one-quarter teaspoon almond extract. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Spread meringue over apple sauce mixture. Bake in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes or until meringue is well browned. Serve cold with whipped cream. It serves eight.

Something different in the way of an apple and potato dish is always welcome. Peel and quarter five medium-sized potatoes, saute in one tablespoon butter and add one teaspoon salt, and just enough water to cover. Peel and slice two apples. Add apples to the potatoes when the "spuds" are almost done; add one tablespoon sugar and a dash of allspice. When apples are soft, mash the mixture without draining and beat until light and fluffy and you'll have potatoes Parisian.

Porcupine Apples

For porcupine apples pare and core eight Northern Spy apples. Cook together one and a half cups each of sugar and water for a few minutes. Drop apples into syrup and cook until soft. Remove apples from saucepan and boil syrup down until it is quite thick and then roll apples in it. Stud with almonds (blanched and cut in lengthwise quarters) to make the porcupine quills and fill the apple centers with jelly or marmalade. Serve with whipped cream, and prepare for compliments.

For coconut apple strips, line a shallow pan or baking sheet, 13x9 inches, with pastry rolled one-eighth of an inch thick. Arrange apple slices cut from five large Rhode Island Greenings, placing the slices in rows on the dough; and sprinkle with a mixture of half cup sugar and quarter teaspoon cinnamon and dot with two tablespoons butter. Bake in hot oven for 20 minutes. Cover with coconut topping made by combining two cups shredded coconut, half cup sugar, dash of salt, one well-beaten egg and quarter cup milk. Reduce heat to moderate and bake 15 minutes more or until delicately browned. Cool and cut into two by four and on-half inch strips, twelve strips.

"YOUR MONEY'S WORTH"

85 years ago, Joel MacMillan acquired a retail store at 29 Main st., Salem: Re-numbering and naming made it 27 East Main, now 248 East State.

His basic plan toward the public was: "Your money's worth." Town, people, fashions have changed, but location, name, principle of this store remains the same.

600 rolls of Wall Paper in 1850 (the first in Salem), 30,000 now! — your choice that much enlarged. The varying prices the market affords — but then, now and always —

HOME MAKING HELPS

WE HAVE been examining some very interesting plans designed to show what can be done with the practical small home for the larger family.

One design that especially intrigued us was a five-room bungalow which included some most attractive features. We liked the vestibule with coat closet and lavatory in the adjoining hallway; the living room with its fine proportions not usually found in a house of this type; the formal fireplace, and the double French doors opening from the dining room to the garden at the rear.

The living room has been specifically designed to allow the free use of color and pattern. Therefore, the walls and ceiling are neutral in tone and without pattern. Walls are large and surfaces unbroken as much as possible. Windows are on either side of the formal fireplace. The colors dominating the color scheme include brown, gold and rust with smaller touches of blue and green to set off these hues.

Placing Furniture
The placing of the furniture includes an occasional chair upholstered in green on either side of a library table and lamp. These three take up one wall space. Above the table is a large mirror which reflects the fireplace opposite. In one corner to the right of the fireplace is a radio with an easy chair upholstered in rust and aavenport upholstered in brown tapestry, with a table and lamp on the other side of the davenport.

Beyond the table is an easy chair covered in rust-colored fabric, and a screen is placed behind this chair and the adjoining table. This screen not only keeps off drafts, but it shuts off a view of the door that leads to the bedroom from the living room. On the other side of the fireplace are bookcases, an easy chair of striped fabric on a bryon ground, and an end table that can also be used as a coffee table.

Another wall is the background for a small grand piano, piano bench and floor lamp. This wall is broken by doors leading to the dining room.

Hoosiers Celebrate Championship in Big Ten Basketball Race

Title Is Not Undisputed, Since Purdue Can Cut In For A Share Saturday Night; Hoosiers Have Won 11, Lost One

CHICAGO, March 3.—Indiana's Hoosiers turned in today to celebrate an honor that has visited Bloomington all too seldom, a Big Ten basketball title.

The Hoosiers were not celebrating an undisputed championship, for their favorite rival, Purdue, can and probably will cut in for a share Saturday night in its final game. At any rate, Indiana completed its greatest season since 1928 last night by conquering Ohio State, 40 to 34, before 6,400 cheering fans who packed the Hoosier fieldhouse.

SAXON LASSIES STAY UNBEATEN

Down Homestead In game Sunday; Salem Boys Also Win

The Salem Saxon lassies added another victory to their undefeated record when they won out over the strong Homestead, Saxon girls' team in a league contest at Homestead, Pa., Sunday.

Coach Pete Sanders' Saxon lads also came through with a victory Sunday, defeating Homestead boys, 53 to 34.

Homestead girls, previously unbeaten, played on even terms with the local lassies during the first period of the contest but faltered in the second frame to fall behind, 17 to 14, at half time.

The Salem girls continued their fine showing in the third period by holding Homestead scoreless and scoring enough points themselves to make certain the victory.

Anne Zelle meshed eight field goals and three foul shots to score 19 points and lead the Salem lassies in scoring.

In the boys' game, the Sandermen jumped to a big lead, 24 to 10, in the first period and were never headed thereafter. "Mike" Linder set the scoring pace with 17 points.

The Salem lads occupy the top position in the Saxon league, having been defeated but once this season.

Quakers Face Test With Youngstown South In First Game of Cage Tourney

Rated as one of the lower ranking teams for the first time in many years, the Salem High school Quaker basketballers swing into action against Youngstown South High's cagers in the first round of the sectional Class A basketball tournament at Youngstown East High gym at 9 tonight.

Seventeen teams are entered in the tourney with South, Youngstown Chaney, East Palestine and Campbell Memorial as the favorites.

The Quakers, who have not been eliminated from the Youngstown tournament since it was first organized as a division of the northeastern Ohio district, face a major test in their contest tonight and if they can get by South have a fine chance to reach the finals.

Three other contests will be played in the tourney tonight. Youngstown Chaney meets East Palestine, Newton Falls faces Lisbon and Girard tangles with Hubbard.

Chaney and East Palestine will meet in the first game of tonight's schedule at 7.

TROJANS EDGE WINONA QUINT

Village Cagers' Last Period Rally Falls Short

Halting a final period rally of the Winona cagers, the Trojans squeezed out a 23 to 22 victory in the only Class A city league basketball game at the Memorial building last night.

The Trojans held the lead at the close of the first period, 7 to 5, but fell behind in the second frame and permitted Winona to go out in front, 13 to 9.

Holding Winona to one point in the third period, the Trojans scored nine to again take the lead 18 to 14. The village cagers last period spurt brought them eight points but not enough to secure the victory.

Frank Culler and Schaeffer starred for the Trojans while Clewell and Ward were outstanding for Winona.

All games scheduled for the Memorial building tonight have been postponed because of the church recreation program.

Ohio Canal Project Believed Approved By Army Engineers

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Army district and division engineers have approved construction of a canal to connect Lake Erie with the Ohio river via the Beaver Mahoning and Grand rivers from Beaver, Pa., to the vicinity of Ashtabula, O.

The hearing was ordered to begin at 10 a. m. March 30 at the munitions building.

Skyscraper Folk Forced to Walk In N. Y. Strike

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 3.—On a wave of violence, striking building service workers sought today to drive through a complete tie-up of the skyscraper-dependent life of America's largest city.

Flying squadrons of strikers, making raids to force out employees who refused to answer the walkout call, battled guards and non-striking workers.

From the upper Bronx to Greenwich village, police squads answering night radio calls, found smashed doors, shattered windows and out-elevator cables.

Arrested in Disorders
Police recorded more than 300 cases of disorder; almost 100 arrests were made; a score of persons were injured and about a score more treated for scratches and bruises in fighting between pickets, police and workers who refused to strike.

Radio patrols in the exclusive Central park west residential section sought strike sympathizers suspected of having opened boiler valves, thus flooding a 15-story apartment building basement with live steam and sealing water.

With this and other apartment houses deprived of heat, a light snow fell and weather became cold and damp.

James J. Bambrick, international building service president, said as he left a conference lasting into the early morning hours:

"We've got a startling surprise move for today."

Tall Buildings Threatened
His statement was interpreted to mean that he would order workers out in the tallest buildings in the world: The Empire State, the Chrysler, and the Rockefeller Plaza-Radio center.

Mayor La Guardia called a second conference of building operators and labor leaders today, hoping to solve the situation.

A conference yesterday failed to result in a truce.

Union leaders have said they would not yield until their demands for shorter hours, higher wages and a closed shop are met. Building owners were standing fast on the ground that such concessions would increase rents and impair service.

Today

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

JAPAN'S Prime Minister Katsurika Okada, thought dead, escaped assassination by hiding in an iron safe for two days while the young officers of the Japanese army shot down his "double," a brother-in-law, who, heroically volunteering, "marched out stiffly" to be cut down by machinegun fire.

The Japanese take death lightly. According to an official Tokyo statement, when the rebellious army surrendered, eighteen of their leaders committed harakiri, strange oriental suicide performed by ripping open the abdomen, causing disembowelment. The real prime minister, not murdered after all, is back at work by command of the Mikado.

Japan will honor Okada's brother-in-law, Cal. Matsuo, who let himself be killed to save the prime minister.

POOR Barbara Hutton; the wealth piled up for her to inherit seems not to have brought complete happiness.

She had $20,000,000. It was said, in banks, safe deposit vaults, securities—wealth that she never saw. She could wear only one dress at a time, could dance, eat and laugh no more than other girls. She became the "Princess" Midvian, then the "Countess" Haugwitz-Reventlow.

Then Barbara Hutton's baby boy was born. A Caesarean section, which means removal of the infant by surgery, is said to have been necessary. The young mother is still in a dangerous condition.

If the worst should happen, which heaven forbid, another substantial American fortune would move to Europe, and the little new owner of the Woolworth millions would grow up in Denmark knowing little about the country that produced his wealth.

The so-called Caesarean operation.

tion, so named because it is mistakenly supposed to have brought Caesar into the world, was compulsory in ancient times, and in the middle ages, when a mother was dying in childbirth.

AS late as the last century, at least 50 percent of mothers submitting to the Caesarean section died. Now, under proper conditions, the operation is as safe as any major operation, and hundreds of mothers undergo it, although told in advance by doctors that it would be necessary. How many men would do that?

SOME Americans wonder why it takes the Italians so long to conquer a few million Ethiopians in their high mountain passes. They should remember that it took Uncle Sam more than 50 years to clear out a few thousand red Indians, and gain complete control of this country.

Italians, recently marching ahead without firing a shot, have developed a working system. Before marching troops through a dangerous mountain pass 8,000 feet above sea level, where massacre might be easy, Italian air men bomb the pass so thoroughly that the Ethiopians want no more to do with it. A child might roll his hoop there in safety.

Those who thought the airplane "would not amount to much in war" are learning.

WASHINGTON's department of justice announces a drop in crime. In 1935 there were only 1,455 murders, compared with 1,778 in 1934. In the same period robberies dropped from 20,025 to 14,248. Burglaries fell off by 11,000, and thefts of automobiles fell from 78,727 to 62,406. Perhaps we are reforming slowly.

IN Bellevue hospital, psychiatrists, studying child character, use a puppet show. When one of the puppets asked, "How shall I wash the baby?" one young child shouted "Beat her up!"

That is supposed to show something wrong with the child, but does not follow necessarily. At least one-half of the small American boys that used to see bloodhounds chasing Eliza sympathized with the dogs, and many sympathized with Legree, admiring him, in his high top boots, when he beat Tom. Young children are savages. Those that train them should train them, and make allowances—children, before birth, go through all the processes of evolution, and before growing up they go through all the phases of barbarism, cruelty and blood.
